

THE FOURTH VISION SIENA CONFERENCE ON THE FUTURE OF EUROPE

TIME TO LAND IN THE 21ST CENTURY

ONE YEAR TO THE NEXT EU ELECTIONS: HOW DID EUROPE
CHANGE IN THE LAST FOUR HYPER FAST YEARS AND WHAT WILL IT LOOK LIKE IN 2029

8th, 9th, 10th June 2023
Siena – Certosa Di Pontignano

CONFIDENTIAL AND TENTATIVE AGENDA (MAY 2023)

We are navigating into “unchartered waters.”

Europe is facing geopolitical and environmental discontinuities that challenge not only a world order shaped by another century but also the intellectual underpinnings of our economic and political systems. These shifts put in question the democratic foundations of our policy making. The driving force of the changes is a technology-triggered disruption: technologies do not just transform radically the nature of industries; they even produce a complexity that risks paralyzing action.

The European Union faces this upheaval as much as any other large country or regional blocks. And yet Europe could turn its vulnerabilities into a flexibility that will help it adapt more quickly to the challenges of the 21st century.

The Siena conference is an attempt to reach beyond ideological stereotypes, academic siloes, and individual national agendas so that few, visionary, pragmatic ideas can emerge and become common ground.

The next pages define the objectives of the fourth Siena conference and of each of the problem-solving groups/ plenaries; the key participants; the structure of the agenda; the scientific and media partners of the project; the method through which the participants will draft the final PONTIGNANO paper.

As for the title of the 4th edition of the Siena Conference, “TIME TO LAND IN THE 21ST CENTURY” the starting points of the conversations are that:

1. The last three years have witnessed a further acceleration of multiple crises: the COVID-19 pandemic and the ensuing disruptions of globalisation as we knew it, including inflation; the Russian invasion of Ukraine and the energy crisis; more recently a new banking crisis which brought about the fall of both the bank of the most dynamic ecosystem of the world – SVB – and of one of the oldest western financial institutions – Credit Suisse.
More frequent and intense crises seem to be the defining feature of the 21st century.
2. Such frequent and violent shocks are exposing the inadequacy of the institutions (from the UN Security Council to the climate COP; from the World Bank to even the central banks) on which we have relied for the governance of global/complex problems since the Second World War
3. The last year saw the European Union achieves the extraordinary result of designing and executing a plan to jointly detach from the dependency on Russia’s gas and to stand united in defence of common values. And yet even the EU, which is still the most advanced experiment of supranational governance, is not alien to such an obsolescence of instruments designed to govern an old-world order, and still suffers from ambiguities and sub-optimal half integrations. The name of the game of the next months before the 2024 European elections, is to turn several simultaneous challenges into an opportunity for leadership.

The conference's objective is thus to act as a catalyst of new ideas which can offer "solutions" to specific problems identified by the concept paper, and as a promoter of a different approach to the project. The conference will follow a format successfully experimented at the previous three Vision Conferences on the Future of Europe and of the Vision Dolomite Conference on Climate Change.

Exactly one year before the next European Parliament elections (June 2024), Vision and its partners are convening a three-day meeting from the 8th – 10th June 2023, where over fifty visionary intellectuals, policy makers, entrepreneurs, managers, journalists, economists, political scientists, activists and students will gather to discuss possible future European scenarios.

KEY PEOPLE - SCIENTIFIC, CORPORATE AND MEDIA PARTNERS

The chairs of the conference will be Sandro Gozi (European MEP for Renew Europe, former Italian Secretary of State for European Affairs), Maria Joao Rodrigues (President of the Foundation for European Progressive Studies and former Portuguese Minister of Employment), John Hooper (Italy and Vatican correspondent, The Economist), Kalypto Nicolaïdis (Professor at St Antony's College, University of Oxford and Professor at the School of Transnational Governance – EUI).

Other key participants of the Conference will be Romano Prodi (Former Prime Minister of Italy and Former President of the European Commission), Fabrizia Lapecorella (Deputy Secretary-General OECD), Marco Buti (Tommaso Padoa-Schioppa Chair in European Economic and Monetary Integration at the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies, EUI).

Vision's scientific partners will be the University of Siena and the European University Institute which is the European Union's body meant to promote academic debate on questions relevant to European Institutions. The Universities of the Coimbra group (which brings together the ancient European universities) will also be involved.

One of the most distinctive features of the conference is the presence of the political foundations/think tanks of some of the biggest EU political groups (Foundation of European Progressive Studies for Party of European Socialists (PES); European Liberal Forum for Alliance of Liberals and Democrats Europe Party (ALDE); New Direction for the European Conservatives and Reformists Party (ECR); Green European Foundation for the European Green Party (EGP)). We envisage that each of the four foundations will oversee one of the plenary sessions around one of their recent papers and to have one MEP for each of them at the last plenary commenting on the Pontignano Paper, which will be the output of the conference.

We expect to have 60 participants in person and 10/15 joining remotely. Participants are selected so to have gender (50 % at least women), generational (with a possible focus on the very young and the inspirational generation of the «grandfathers»), national (not more than one third Italian, some British, some not European), professional (policy maker, but also managers and entrepreneurs, journalists, economists and political scientists, activists, intellectuals) balance. Each of the participants will join the public plenary sessions and will also hold the role of introducer / chair / rapporteur of one of the 4 problem-solving groups or the 7 plenaries.

A major role will be played by our corporate partners. They are expected to participate in the full program and put forward their points of view, a be prepared for a problem-solving exercise which is going to be under Chatham House rules in the problem-solving groups. We therefore trust participant managers and entrepreneurs to provide the pragmatism and sense of urgency that business should foster. And yet we also selected corporate partners that seem to understand how the role of companies is changing and becoming more “social”. In 2022 the Vision conference’s corporate partners were Intesa Sanpaolo. This year we will also have Banca Monte dei Paschi Siena and we envisage adding Morgan Stanley and Leonardo.

THE PROCESS AND CONFERENCE STRUCTURE

A key characteristic of the conference is that the preparation of problem-solving groups (PSG) and plenaries will be designed by University of Siena’s and EUI’s master’s and doctorate students. They will interact with Vision, a tutor from either the University of Siena or the EUI and the Introducer (who will open the discussion in Siena), the PSG Chair (normally a journalist who will steer the discussion) and the Rapporteur who will report back to the plenary and feed the Pontignano paper with the ideas produced by the PSG. The PSG will be under Chatham House rule.

In addition to the PSG, we will have plenaries: four of them will be organised by each of the four foundations/think tanks which the conference will host and start from one of their policy papers; we will also have an opening plenary with the Conferences Chairs and a closing one with MEPs from each of the five major European political groups.

The plenary sessions will be broadcast thanks to the media partnership with RAI RADIO 1. We expect major European and Italian newspapers to cover the event.

The Siena conference is becoming the multi-partisan platform for generating the concrete ideas that Europe needs to update its institutions for the 21st Century. It is a follow-up of the EUI’s State of the Union and has the objective of positioning Siena and Florence at the forefront of European discourse and making the Siena conference a progressively bigger annual event.
